

How can I get support for an application installed in my Windows virtual machine?

- Parallels Desktop for Mac Standard Edition

Symptom

I have a technical issue with an application installed in Windows, which I use as a Parallels Desktop virtual machine.

Resolution

Issues with any software installed in Parallels Desktop, including operating systems, are out of scope of Parallels Support. Parallels Support only offers assistance with products manufactured and developed by Parallels.

For technical assistance with the software installed in Parallels Desktop you should contact the software manufacturer directly.
