

"Parallels Desktop" would like to control this computer using accessibility features message appears

- Parallels Desktop
- Parallels Desktop for Mac Standard Edition
- Parallels Desktop for Mac Pro Edition
- Parallels Desktop for Mac Business Edition

Question

When I start Parallels Desktop I always get "Parallels Desktop" would like to control this computer using accessibility features pop-up.

How do I turn it off permanently without having to grant Parallels Desktop with control over accessibility features?

Information

This procedure is required to allow macOS control the entire Mac keyboard (modified keys in particular). This is a basic macOS security procedure which will not affect other Mac applications or cause any security issues.

We recommend you enable Parallels Desktop in System Preferences > Security & Privacy > Privacy > Accessibility.

© 2025 Parallels International GmbH. All rights reserved. Parallels, the Parallels logo and Parallels Desktop are registered trademarks of Parallels International GmbH. All other product and company names and logos are the trademarks or registered trademarks of their respective owners.